Portside Logistics -- Customer SLA Policy

Governs delivery commitments, delay compensation, and claims for all Portside Logistics shipping customers.

1. Service Tiers and Delivery Windows

Portside Logistics offers three service tiers. Standard service targets 3 to 5 business days between origin depot and destination city. Express service targets 1 to 2 business days on supported lanes. Same-Day service is available only for destinations within the same metro area as the origin depot and must be booked before the depot's daily cutoff time.

2. Delay Compensation Schedule

When a shipment is delivered later than the committed window, the customer is credited a percentage of the freight cost for that shipment automatically, without needing to file a claim.

- Delayed by up to 4 hours past the committed window: no credit, courtesy notification only.
- Delayed by more than 4 and up to 24 hours: 10 percent of freight cost credited.
- Delayed by more than 24 and up to 48 hours: 25 percent of freight cost credited.
- Delayed by more than 48 hours: 50 percent of freight cost credited and priority rebooking.

3. Damaged or Lost Shipment Claims

Claims for damaged or lost shipments must be filed within 72 hours of the delivery date, or of the committed delivery date if the shipment never arrived. A claim requires the tracking code, photographs of the damage where applicable, and the original packing list.

Approved claims are paid out based on the declared value at booking, capped at the limit stated on the shipping contract for that customer tier.

4. Proof of Delivery Requirements

Every delivery requires a signature or a delivery photo captured by the driver at the time of drop-off. Proof of delivery records are retained for 180 days and can be requested by the customer at any time within that window through customer support.

5. Escalation Path for Unresolved Disputes

If a customer disagrees with a claims decision or a compensation credit, the first escalation point is the depot customer support lead. Unresolved disputes after that review move to the regional operations manager, who issues a final decision within 10 business days.
